Stephen Hough delivers a sublime performance in latest Touchpress music app

11th July 2013: Liszt's Piano Sonata in B Minor is the great masterpiece of 19th-century Romantic music. Stephen Hough is one of the 21st-century's finest pianists. Touchpress in partnership with award-winning film-makers Lone Star have brought the two together to create an astonishing new way to experience music only possible on iPad.

Stephen's virtuoso performance has been exquisitely captured on multiple cameras, allowing the music to be experienced from any perspective.

A magical graphical view of the score highlights the intricacy and complexity of the piece. The NoteFall is a hypnotic and enlightening visualization of the music, allowing instant appreciation of the subtleties of the music and its interpretation.

A specially commissioned text by Charlotte Gardner, enhanced with 20 video insights from Stephen Hough, accompanies the performance. Delve into the soap opera that was Liszt's life, explore the history and structure of the piece, and learn about the interplay of motives and themes that make the Piano Sonata such an important work.

Add to this an optional voice-over commentary from Stephen Hough and one has an unrivalled exposition of a unique piece.

The Liszt Sonata App explores a single piece through the mind and fingers of a single performer. As Hough comments: 'This app enables the listener (viewer, collaborator) to get inside the inner workings of the piece, both to see what the composer was creating as well as know what the performer is thinking. It's like a personal guided tour of a great castle, keys to every room, access to every secret.'

The Liszt Sonata App is available for $13.99/£9.99 from the App Store on iPad or at www.AppStore.com.
